Parenting Plan: List of Topics

Following is a list of the topics parents may want to include in a parenting plan.

Some of the topics listed may be irrelevant to your family. Other topics may need to be broken down into many sub-topics. For example, some families are able to skip over the topic of allergies, while other families need to break discipline down into many parts (hitting, telling lies, refusing to do homework, skipping school, etc.)

Probably the most important factor pertaining to the upbringing of your children is the parents getting along and acting as a team. Keep in mind, no one parent "is the boss" and that there is a difference between your wishes and the final decisions made.
